ALLYCE JONES is known for her fiery competitiveness, enthusiasm, and her willingness – and ability – to return balls by diving and rolling on the court! Jones has always loved sports. In high school she played softball, tennis, and volleyball. Jones went on to play volleyball at Utah Valley University. After graduation Jones owned her own volleyball club with 250 athletes.

Amidst the challenges posed by the pandemic, Jones began playing pickleball at her high school gym with family and fellow faculty members. Jones developed a deep love for the sport and ventured into local tournaments with her mom and brother, consistently reaching the podium. Allyce and her husband, Ryan, have three children and reside in Pleasant Grove, Utah.
